China Development Financial Holding Corporation

Business Report

During 2022 as countries began to open up as part of the post-pandemic era, the financial impact caused by the US Federal Reserve, and central banks raising interest rates as well as accumulated inventories resulted in a decline in global demand. From a Taiwan's perspective, exports showed a decline in annual growth starting in the fourth quarter, while domestic demand and individual consumption has performed well after the lockdowns ended. The opening of the borders, international travel (and consumption) has also returned to stronger levels. In terms of investments, the focus in the first half of the year in Taiwan was the expansion of production capacity and deployment of green energy facilities; however, there was a contraction in the second half of the year. In terms of capital markets, Taiwan stocks, which are significantly export oriented, were impacted due to the gradual decline in export orders in the second half of the year. The closing index reached 14,138 at the end of 2022, representing a decrease of 22.4%.

The volatility in global financial markets in 2022 reflected the raising of interest rates by the US Federal Reserve to suppress inflation and normalize monetary policies. Aside from KGI Bank benefiting from interest rate hikes in the US and Taiwan, which led to higher net interest income and maintained asset quality, China Life, KGI Securities, and CDIB Capital Group were impacted by fluctuations in the international capital market. The consolidated after-tax net income for CDF in 2022 was NT$16.39 billion (including NT$0.02 billion from non-controlling interests), with EPS of NT$0.98 after tax and consolidated ROE of 6.5%. Compared with the consolidated after-tax adjusted net income of NT$39.10 billion (including NT$12.06 billion from non-controlling interests) when the one-time sale of the building (of NT$8.00 billion) is excluded, the annual decline was lower than that of other financial holding companies focused on life insurance.

Taiwan Ratings Corp. gave the Company a long-term credit rating of "twAA-," a short-term credit rating of "twA-1+," and a "Stable" outlook in August 2022. The ratings continue to affirm the Group's stable capital levels. Taiwan Ratings Corp. predicts that even though the market will continue to fluctuate in the next two years, the Group should be able to maintain stable capital and profit levels.

In April of 2021, the company committed to reaching "net zero carbon emissions for its full portfolio by 2045"; moreover, the headquarters building on Dunhua North Road and the KGI Securities Dazhi building introduced green energy in December of 2022. Green energy is expected to account for 12% of the Group's total energy usage, which is equivalent to a 10% annual reduction of carbon emissions from operations.

In 2023, we expect interest rates to remain high, which will affect the economy and trade of many countries impacting global trade. In terms of domestic demand, international travel should drive private consumption. Investment is restricted by the pressure for manufacturers to reduce inventory, and some companies will be more cautious when investing. It is projected that economic growth in Taiwan will slower in 2023 compared to the previous two years.

Finally, we would like to thank all our employees for their hard work as well as our clients, regulators, and our shareholders for their continued support. CDF will continue to enhance risk control mechanism to mitigate operational risks and focus on core strategies to maintain long-term stable business development. We remain committed to the implementation of our ABCDE strategy as we embrace innovation and talent to deliver sustainable financial solutions to our clients, shareholders, and to the community.

Independent Auditors' Report

The Board of Directors and Shareholders

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of China Development Financial Holding Corporation (the Corporation) and subsidiaries (collectively, the Group), which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Financial Holding Companies, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Public Banks, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Firms, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Futures Commission Merchants, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Insurance Enterprises, the guidelines issued by the authority and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Corporation and its subsidiaries in accordance with The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

The key audit matters of the Group's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022 are as follows:

Estimated Impairment of Discounts and Loans

The management assesses impairment of discounts and loans according to the Regulations Governing the Procedures for Banking Institutions to Evaluate Assets and Deal with Non-performing/Non-accrual Loans ("the Procedures") issued by the FSC of the ROC and IFRS 9, respectively, and then recognizes the higher estimated amount as a reserve for asset impairment. Under the Procedures, impairment is based on the length of time overdue and the status of the collaterals; and, under IFRS 9, impairment is assessed by considering the probability of default and loss given default estimated based on historical experience, present market situation and forward-looking information. The estimation of impairment requires the use of critical judgments and estimates and impairment has significant impact on the financial statements; therefore, the impairment of discounts and loans is deemed to be a key audit matter for the year ended December 31, 2022.

Refer to Notes 4, 5 and 53 for the significant accounting policies, critical judgment, estimation uncertainty and related disclosure of the impairment of discounts and loans.

Our key audit procedures performed in respect of the above matter included the following:

We understood the accounting policies and internal controls related to the recognition of impairment. We verified that the impairment assessment procedures including the classification of the credit assets, the length of time overdue and the status of the collaterals complied with the Procedures. We evaluated that the methodology, assumptions and parameters adopted in the impairment model conform to IFRS 9 and had appropriately reflected the actual situation of the discounts and loans. We selected samples of discounts and loans and evaluated the reasonableness of recognized impairment.

Assessment of Insurance Liabilities and Liability Adequacy Reserve

As stated in Note 5, management uses actuarial models and several material assumptions when assessing the insurance liabilities and liability adequacy reserve. The assumptions were based on the principles embodied in the relevant laws and regulations, which cover the unique risk exposure, product characteristics and experiences from target markets of China Life Insurance Co., Ltd. (China Life Insurance). The assessment of liability adequacy reserve is in compliance with the relevant norms promulgated by The Actuarial Institute of the Republic of China. When China Life Insurance assesses the liability adequacy reserve, the estimated present value of future cash flows of insurance contracts is based on a reasonable estimate of future insurance payments, premium income and related expenses. Since any change in the actuarial model and material assumptions will have a significant influence on insurance liabilities and liability adequacy reserve, we consider them as key audit matters for the year ended December 31, 2022.

Refer to Notes 4, 5 and 52 for the relevant accounting policy, critical accounting judgments, and estimation uncertainty, and disclosures of assessment of insurance liabilities and liability adequacy reserve.

We understood and assessed China Life Insurance's internal controls related to insurance liabilities and liability adequacy reserve. We requested and our internal actuarial specialists assisted us in performing our audit procedures regarding insurance liability including the evaluation of the rationale of relevant assumptions and actuarial models adopted by management. As for the liability adequacy reserve, we assessed the reasonableness of the underlying assumptions and outcomes.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Financial Holding Companies, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Public Banks, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Firms, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Futures Commission Merchants, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Insurance Enterprises, the guidelines issued by the authority and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the audit of the Group. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audits resulting in this independent auditors' report are Yi-Chun Wu and Jr-Shian Ke.

III. Issuance of Common Shares or Preferred Shares for Cash Consideration Through a Private Placement

1. According to Article 43-6 of the Securities and Exchange Act and the “Directions for Public Companies Conducting Private Placements of Securities”, the price of the common shares subscribed through private placement shall be no less than 80% of the higher of the following reference prices:
 - 1) The simple arithmetical average closing price of the common shares for either one, three or five business days before the pricing date, after adjustment for any distribution of stock dividends, cash dividends or capital reduction.
 - 2) The simple arithmetical average closing price of the common shares for the 30 business days before the pricing date, after adjustment for any distribution of stock dividends, cash dividends, or capital reduction.
2. The price of preferred shares to be subscribed through private placement shall not be lower than 80% of the theoretical price in accordance with relevant laws and regulations and the Company’s Articles of Incorporation. The terms and conditions of such preferred shares are as follows:
 - 1) If the Company has a surplus after the year-end final accounts, it should first pay taxes and make up the losses accumulated from preceding years. After setting aside the legal reserve and setting aside or reversing the special reserve as required by law, if there is any remaining balance, it may first distribute the dividends for the year to which the preferred shares are entitled.
 - 2) The dividend rate is capped at 8%, per annum on the issue price per share. Cash dividend is paid annually at one time, and the Board of Directors will set the record date for the distribution of the preceding year’s dividend once the financial report has been approved by shareholders at the annual shareholders meeting. The amount of dividends paid in the year of private placement and the amount of dividends received in the year of redemption are calculated based on the actual number of days the preferred shares are outstanding in that year.
 - 3) The Company has the discretion to distribute dividends on the preferred shares. If the Company has no or insufficient surplus to distribute dividends on the preferred shares in its annual accounts, or if the distribution of dividends on the preferred shares will cause the Company’s capital adequacy ratio to fall below the minimum requirements set by law or by the competent authorities, or if there are other necessary considerations, the Company may resolve not to distribute dividends on the preferred shares and the preferred shareholders shall not raise objections. If the preferred shares are non-cumulative, undistributed dividends or dividend shortfalls will not be accumulated and deferred in coming years.

- 4) If the preferred shares are non-participative, preferred shareholders shall not participate in the distribution of earnings and capital surplus in cash and capitalization of common shares, except for the dividends set forth in subparagraph 2 above.
- 5) The preferred shareholders shall have priority in the distribution of the residual assets of the Company over the common shareholders, and all preferred shareholders, irrespective of classes of shares, shall rank pari passu, provided that such distribution shall not exceed the respective issue amounts.
- 6) The preferred shareholders shall not have voting and election rights in the general shareholders meeting, but are eligible to be elected as directors, and they can vote in the preferred shareholders meeting or matters related to the preferred shareholders' rights and obligations in the general shareholders meeting.
- 7) Convertible preferred shares issued by the Company through private placement shall not be converted into common shares within one year from the delivery date of such convertible preferred shares. The Board of Directors is authorized to decide the period for the conversion in the term and conditions of the private placement. The convertible preferred shareholders are entitled to convert all or part of their preferred shares to common shares based on a conversion ratio of 1:1 according to the terms and conditions of the private placement. The common shares converted from the convertible preferred shares are entitled to the same rights and obligations with common shares. The distribution of the dividends in the year of the conversion shall be calculated based on the ratio between the actual issuance days and the total days of the conversion year, however, that when said shares are converted before the ex-dividend date of any given year, the shareholders shall not participate in the distribution of the dividends of preferred shares in that year and onward, but such shareholders are entitled to participate in the distribution of earnings and capital surplus to common shareholders.
- 8) If the Company issues preferred shares through private placement, such preferred shareholders have no right to request the Company to redeem such preferred shares held by them. The Company may set redemption date at a date no earlier than the day following the 7th anniversary of the delivery date of such preferred shares. All or part of the preferred shares shall be redeemed by the Company at the price as same as the actual issue price and the rights and obligations of the un-redeemed preferred shares shall continue to be subject to the aforementioned terms of private placement. If the Company resolves to issue dividends, the dividends to be received upon the redemption date shall be calculated according to the actual issuance days of said year.
- 9) If the preferred shares issued by the Company through private placement are not perpetual, the maturity date shall not be earlier than the 7th anniversary of the delivery date of such preferred shares. The preferred shareholders have no right to request the Company to redeem the preferred shares held by them. On the maturity date or from the day following the 7th anniversary of the delivery date of such preferred shares, the Company is entitled to redeem the preferred shares in cash or by other manners permitted by laws at issue price and in accordance with the terms and conditions of the private placement.

Where the Company is unable to redeem all or part of the preferred shares that have become mature due to force majeure or other circumstances beyond reasonable control, the terms and conditions of the private placement still apply to the un-redeemed preferred shares and their rights and obligations shall remain unchanged until they are redeemed by the Company.

- 10) The Board of Directors is fully authorized to determine the name, delivery date and details of conditions of the preferred shares in accordance with laws and regulations, the Articles of Incorporation of the Company, market conditions and investors' willingness for the subscription.
3. The issue price of shares to be subscribed through this private placement is determined in accordance with relevant laws and regulations and refers to recent market prices. The terms and conditions of such preferred shares is determined in accordance with the Company's Articles of Incorporation. Therefore, the issue price of shares and the terms and conditions of preferred shares to be subscribed through private placement should be fair.
4. In accordance with Article 43-6 of the Securities and Exchange Act and the "Directions for Public Companies Conducting Private Placements of Securities", as the Company had a net profit after tax in its most recent year and no accumulated losses, this private placement is limited to the introduction of strategic investors. The method, objective, necessity and expected benefits of selection of placees are explained as follows:
 - 1) Method and objective of placee selection:

In no event may a placee under private placement be an insider or a related party of the Company. As of this point, the Company has no confirmed placees. The placees must meet the eligibility requirements of Article 43-6 of the Securities and Exchange Act, and the Company will give priority to large-scale domestic or foreign institutions, in order to develop stable and long-term partnership with strategic investors and enhance the Company's market competitiveness through capital participation, business cooperation and experience exchange.
 - 2) Necessity:

Taiwan's financial industry is highly competitive. It is necessary to introduce strategic investors with large asset scale and good profitability in order to expand the financial products, financial technology services and international financial services of the Company and its subsidiaries and enhance operating performance and market competitiveness.
 - 3) Expected benefits:

In addition to strengthening capital structure, the funds from private placement are expected to enhance risk tolerance for business expansion. Additionally, through mutual cooperation, the Company and its subsidiaries will be able to expand operation scales and service scopes in Taiwan and abroad to enhance market competitiveness.

5. Rationale of private placement:

1) Reasons for not conducting a public offering:

Private placement allows strategic partners to acquire the Company's shares in one transaction, which will facilitate the Company's acquisition of the funds, skills, experience, and channels of the strategic partners. Given the securities acquired through private placement are not freely transferable for three years, long-term partnership between the Company and strategic investors is further ensured. Moreover, conducting a private placement can maintain stability of the Company's share price.

2) Issue amount of the private placement:

In principle, up to 2.5 billion shares.

3) Use of funds and expected benefits to be achieved:

The funds from the private placement are expected to be used for one or more of the following purposes: fund working capital, stabilize financial structure, improve capital adequacy ratio, repay loans, or meet the Company's long-term strategic development needs. It is expected that the capital increase will strengthen the Company's competitiveness and enhance operational efficiency.

6. The securities of this private placement may not be sold for a period of three years from the delivery date, except for resale to those transferees in accordance with Article 43-8 of the Securities and Exchange Act. It is proposed that three years following the delivery date of the Company's shares through private placement, the Board of Directors be authorized to determine, in consideration of the-then situation and in accordance with the relevant regulations, whether or not to obtain a consent letter from the Taiwan Stock Exchange Corporation, to apply to the Financial Supervisory Commission of Taiwan for post registration of public issuance, and to apply for listing of such shares.

IV. Impact on Shareholders' rights and interests

It is proposed that, subject to a total of 2,500,000,000 shares, the Shareholders' Meeting authorize the Board of Directors to issue common and preferred shares for cash through offering, private placement, or using the shares issued as underlying shares to sponsor DR issuance. Shareholders' equity would be diluted, assuming 2,500,000,000 shares, which is approximately 13.6% of the current outstanding shares of the Company, are all issued. However, the capital increase can enhance the Company's competitiveness, which should be able to result in positive effects on the shareholders' rights and interests.

V. The long-term capital raising plan is expected to achieve one or a combination of the following objectives: fund working capital, improve financial structure, repay debts, and meet the Company's needs for business growth and long-term strategic development. The implementation of this plan is expected to strengthen the competitiveness of the Company and enhance operating efficiency.

- VI. It is proposed that the Shareholders' Meeting authorize the Board of Directors with full power to decide, adjust, and implement matters related to this capital raising plan, including underwriting methods, actual issue or private placement price, number of shares to be issued, issuance or private placement terms, project proposals to be achieved, capital raising size, schedules and anticipated benefits, as well as all other matters related to offerings and private placement. It is also proposed that the Shareholders' Meeting authorize the Chairman or his/her designated person(s) to approve and sign all documents related to this capital raising plan and handle all relevant matters on behalf of the Company.
- VII. The Board of Directors and/or the Chairman is fully authorized to handle any matters not fully provided for above in accordance with laws and regulations.
